

HAMILTON & CAMBRIDGE FARMERS' MARKETS

CHARTER

Updated - July 2017

Purpose

- To support and stimulate the profitable trading and business growth of Independent primary producers, farmers, professional and domestic growers and associated produce value-adders.
- To provide customers with regular supplies of fresh, seasonal, locally grown and manufactured food.
- To contribute to the economic and social development of Hamilton, Cambridge and the Waikato region.
- To facilitate the community's education in relation to the nutritional and environmental benefits of eating foods within their season and that are produced locally.

Supporting Actions

- Supporting business growth in the Waikato region through providing a venue, marketing of the Farmers' Markets brand and philosophy. Support with ideas and enquiries from potential applicants and providing a low cost entry to business start up.
- Stallholders are encouraged to educate the customer on seasonality through conversation. The strict rules of stallholders being the grower or producer will enable a unique way for consumers to become educated.
- The markets will maintain a focus on seasonality, freshness and top quality products.
- The markets will maintain a preference for foods that are grown locally; as a guide, we aim for at least 80% of the foods on sale and the owners of the food stalls, to be from the local region.

Acceptable Products

- 80% of all products sold at the Hamilton & Cambridge Farmers' Markets must have been caught, grown, raised or produced locally. Value Added products must be based on local produce.
- The Markets' definition of local is approximately 100km radius or 2hrs drive.
- An allowance of 20% has been allocated where the base product cannot be grown locally or even in New Zealand but the stallholder has added the majority of value locally.

Some examples of this are imported coffee that is roasted, blended and packed locally or baked goods using local ingredients (i.e. meat, vegetables, fruit, dairy etc...) or South Island salmon that is processed, smoked, flavoured locally.

- This is a food only market – the only exceptions are potted plants, cut flowers, compost and wood.
- The Hamilton & Cambridge Farmers' Markets aim to be Authentic Farmers' Markets. To assist in your understanding of stall holder eligibility, please view attached flow chart and explanation.

Quality of Produce

Produce should be picked as close to market time as possible and stored and handled in such a manner as to preserve freshness until the market opens.

Stallholders must guarantee against selling “unmarketable” produce. This includes a requirement to adhere to manufacturers’ instructions in relation to products used to grow produce or prepare processed goods. For example; the withholding period between use of crop sprays and consumption.

Different grades of produce can be sold but these must be clearly labelled as such so consumers are making an informed choice.

Setting Prices

The markets are pro-competition and pro-choice for our customers, as we believe it is the best way to help the market to grow. The market recognises that consumers maintain the right of choice whilst enabling each stallholder to determine their own price.

Appendix A – Definitions

Authentic Farmers' Market

An Authentic Farmers' Market is defined as one which is governed by accepted practices of farmers markets' as per the FMNZ charter. That is, a Farmers' Market is full of locally grown and sourced food which is being sold by the producer, from a defined region.

Primary Producer

The primary producer is the seller and is someone who works on the production of produce, and or family members who have knowledge of the produce.

Local

Local is defined by each individual market. Generally the catchment is 100 to 200 km radius and is not limited to the geographical boundaries of the countries regions.

Value Added

A value added product is any product that is not in its original state. For example, a lemon is a primary product; lemon honey is a value added product. Another example, pork is a primary product; bacon and sausages are value added. Milk is a primary product and yoghurt and cheese are value added. Bagging fresh vegetables such as chopped pumpkin is not considered sufficient processing to be considered value added and is still classified as primary produce which therefore must still be grown by the stall holder.

Other Local Produce

Other local produce means that the value adder does not grow the produce themselves, but sources at least the most significant ingredient directly from a local grower.

Most Significant Ingredient

That which makes up the highest percentage of the product, or an ingredient that defines the product, for example, strawberries in strawberry jam, or blueberries in blueberry pie.
